

Jeff Brannon, Ph.D.

Areas of Expertise

Biblical Theology, Resurrection, Pauline Eschatology, The Resurrection of Jesus Christ, The Kingdom of God, Messianic Psalms, Use of the Old Testament in the New Testament, Principalities and Powers in Paul

Teaching Focus

Gospels, Acts and Paul, Hebrews to Revelation, Biblical Interpretation/Hermeneutics, Systematic Theology, Christian Worldview, Old Testament Survey, New Testament Survey

Additional Information

Dr. Jeff Brannon came to Belhaven University in 2012 after completing his PhD in New Testament at the University of Edinburgh. He is excited to be at Belhaven because he gets to teach the word of God at a Christ-centered university. Dr. Brannon enjoys spending time with students inside and outside of the classroom. One of his favorite times with students is a weekly afternoon time of conversation and fellowship at the Shoe Bird Cafe on Belhaven's campus. This weekly gathering, affectionately termed BABEL (Belhaven Association for Biblical Exploration and Learning), is not a club, but is rather an event that welcomes any students who would like to enjoy a tasty latte and experience warm fellowship and community. Dr. Brannon is married to Jennifer and they have 4 children. They are active members of Highlands Presbyterian Church in Ridgeland, MS. In his spare time, Dr. Brannon enjoys spending time with his family, listening to music, exercising, reading, and traveling during summer breaks.

Scholarly Contributions and Most Recent Professional Publications

Books:

The Heavens in Ephesians, Bloomsbury, 2011.

Academic Articles:

RPM, Volume 17, Number 30, "The Kingdom of God", 7/19/2015 to 7/25/2015

Presentations:

November 2014, Society of Biblical Literature Annual Meeting, San Diego, California, "Another Look at the Principalities and Powers in Paul"

November 2014, Society of Biblical Literature Annual Meeting, San Diego, California, "Psalm 2 in the History of Redemption"