

Rebekah Mincey, Education

Assistant Professor of Education
rmincey@belhaven.edu

B.S., William Carey University
M.E.D., William Carey University
Ed.S., The University of Southern Mississippi
Ph.D., The University of Southern Mississippi

Academic Articles

Chiasson, R., & Robertson, T. (2009). Predictors and Influences of High School Graduation Rates in Mississippi Public Schools.

Presentation at 2010 AmhighEd Conference in Williamsburg, VA.

Presentations

Mincey, R. (2014). Using Bar Models to Teach Mathematical Concepts. Kappa Delta Epsilon South Regional Conference. Belhaven University, Jackson, MS;

Nesbitt, C., Mincey, R. (2014). The Wonderful World of Literacy. Mississippi Reading Association. Biloxi, MS;

Mincey, R., Wasson, C. (2015). Mindset: Changing the Way Students Approach Learning New Math Concepts. Mississippi Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Oxford, MS;

Mincey, R., Wasson, C. (2015). Mindset: Changing the Way Students Approach Reading. Mississippi Reading Association. Biloxi, MS;

Mincey, R., Wasson, C. (2016). Mindset & Patterns in Teacher Preparation Programs: Selected Christian Colleges and Universities in Mississippi. International Christian Community for Teacher Education (ICCTE). Chicago, IL;

Wasson, C., Mincey, R., (2016). Mindset & Patterns in Teacher Preparation Programs: Selected Christian Colleges and Universities in Mississippi. Making Connections Teacher Conference. Biloxi, MS;

Other

Midset: Examining the Way Students View Difficulty in the Classroom